THE MORNING BITE

seriously simple
recipes and tips for the home cook

This roast chicken dish is a springtime favorite

Diane Rossen Worthington

I am always looking for a Seriously Simple chicken recipe that can make it into my cooking rotation. It must be both kid-friendly and good enough to serve at a casual dinner party. This recipe satisfies those conditions. I think of this as a springtime recipe, with the addition of artichokes that make their arrival in early spring. As a Seriously Simple cook, I usually opt for using frozen artichoke hearts that have already been cleaned and trimmed.

With a nod to Morocco, you'll find not only citrus but a drift of both saffron and cinnamon spice here. Once you have prepared the marinade the rest is quick to put together. You can either cook this in a shallow casserole, cast-iron pan or sheet pan. I like to do it on a sheet pan for easy cleanup.

If you can find Meyer lemons, use them for their sweet yet slightly tart flavor. I also add blood oranges if they are in season. The colorful orange and yellow citrus slices become slightly caramelized, and the artichoke hearts add a pleasant surprise.

Serve this with a simple rice pilaf or couscous. Braised spinach would be a nice accompaniment. Often, I am asked what wine to serve with this dish since the artichokes and citrus pose a challenge for a happy pairing. My wine maven friend tells me to pour a fresh clean pinot gris or sauvignon blanc; or for lovers of red, a young fruity sangiovese or chianti.

Roast Chicken with Citrus, Artichoke Hearts and Saffron (Serves 4 to 6)

For the marinade:

- 1 orange, zest and juice (about 1/2 cup)
- 1 Meyer or other lemon, zest and juice, (about 2 tablespoons)
- 1 teaspoon balsamic syrup or 2 teaspoons balsamic vinegar
- 1 teaspoon fresh finely chopped thyme leaves or 1/2 teaspoon dried
- 3 garlic cloves, minced
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon saffron
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Freshly ground black pepper
- 1 leek, light green and white part only, cleaned and finely chopped

For the chicken:

- 1 (4 pound) chicken, cut-up
- 1 orange, ends cut off and cut into 1/2-inch slices and then cut in half again
- 1 Meyer or other lemon, ends cut off and cut into 1/2-inch slices
- 1 (12 ounce) package frozen artichoke hearts, defrosted
- Parsley sprigs, for garnish

1. For the marinade: Combine all the liquid ingredients in a small mixing bowl and mix until blended. Add the salt, pepper and leeks. Taste and adjust the seasonings. Place the chicken in a lock-top plastic bag and pour in the marinade. Make sure the marinade is evenly distributed. Seal the bag and refrigerate for 1/2 to 4 hours
2. Preheat the oven to 425 F. Place the chicken with the marinade in a large shallow roasting pan, cast iron pan or parchment-lined sheet pan. Arrange the citrus slices around the chicken and coat with some of the marinade.

3. Roast the chicken for 30 minutes and then baste the chicken pieces. Scatter the artichoke hearts around the chicken and baste some juice over them. Continue cooking another 25 to 30 more minutes or until the chicken is cooked through, the skin is brown and crispy, and no pinkness remains. Taste the sauce and adjust with balsamic syrup, if desired. Serve directly from the roasting pan or place on a platter and garnish with parsley sprigs. Serve immediately.

Debtonation

Debt and deficits are sometimes uncomfortable but necessary subjects to talk about. This is especially important in the context of the recent Federal Liberal Government's budget, and some of the markers showing Canada could be headed to a crisis. Recently, Conservative Party of Canada leader Pierre Poilievre released the second in a series of in-depth documentaries that unpack some of Canada's fiscal and monetary challenges. Coined "Debtonation," it speaks to the challenges Canada could face. It builds a case confirmed by the release of the Liberals' Budget and Justin Trudeau's fiscal management over the last decade.

Over the last decade, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau has led the country, and we have seen four concerning trends in Canada's fiscal and monetary health. These trends, which history has shown, lead to a debt crisis... asset price inflation, large account deficits, sustained debt buildups, and falling output. While Conservatives have been sounding the alarm on sustained debt and deficits for years, Canada may be reaching the crisis point sooner than we think.

Let's look at the facts. As of today, Canada's total debt is estimated to be around $10.2 trillion, which is roughly 3.5 times our $2.6 trillion economy. This debt increased by 28.5% in the last nine years, while our GDP only grew by 14.1%. This debt is growing at almost twice the rate of economic growth and is split between government, corporate, and consumers; it is 347% of our GDP. Not only do we have the lowest GDP in the G7, but out of the 48 most significant financial crises in history, Canada is currently in the fourth worst position out of jurisdictions that saw a debt crisis.

The Liberal 2024 budget is almost universally panned, but the critics are, in some cases, surprising... including the former Liberal-appointed Governor of the Bank of Canada, who shared he thought it is the worst budget since 1982. With a 40+ billion-dollar deficit this year, we will spend more on servicing the debt than we are expected to collect in GST and more than we spend on healthcare or the military. Additionally, the budget lacks focus on promoting private sector investment and job creation, which are essential for a thriving economy. It clearly shows an "Ottawa knows best" attitude. Overall, the Liberal budget puts Canada on a dangerous path toward economic instability and dangerously close to a debt crisis.

Conservatives have criticized the Liberal government's handling of the economy and public finances, shedding some light on their overspending and mismanagement of taxpayer dollars. Prime examples are the ArriveSCAM, WE Charity, and the out-of-control costs on consultants... but we must be very concerned about the overall fiscal management. Pierre Poilievre has argued that the government's monetary management has brought Canada to the edge of a precipice.

The consequences do not affect the Liberals, the wealthy, or the connected. They are fine and even prospering with asset inflation and well-connected government contracts, but those who face the brunt of the pain are regular Canadians who are facing skyrocketing costs, can't afford food and necessities, and are paying more because of rising interest rates on the debt they have. Canadians need better. Conservatives will balance the budget, keep spending in check, and focus on delivering for the people to ensure that Canadians once again have control of their lives.

PREPLANNING A FUNERAL WITH WEBER FUNERAL HOME

To begin the process of preplanning we invite you to meet with our professional funeral directors by scheduling an appointment at our office or we can come to you at your home. We start each preplan with listening to your wishes and then we guide you with detailed information. We explain processes and procedures that happen at the time of death and offer advice for how to move forward. As part of the preplan, we talk about all the costs involved and record everything in detail for you file. By having valuable information recorded and in place ahead of time you are alleviating your family from having to make difficult decisions in the moment when they are experiencing the emotions of grief and loss.

We recognize that things in life can change. We pride ourselves in our professionalism and will easily transfer arrangements from our funeral home to another service provider. In some cases people have made preplanned and prepaid funeral arrangements with other funeral homes and may want to change providers. Weber Funeral Home will facilitate the transfer of preplans and prepaid contracts from other funeral service providers to Weber Funeral Home.

Some of the feedback we receive from families when the funeral has been prearranged:

- "We are so glad that mom and dad had their arrangements planned ahead of time, we would have been lost with out it."
- "I can't believe how easy this was, I should plan my arrangements for my family too."
- "We were overwhelmed with where to begin, having this prearrangement gave us comfort in knowing dad gave us his guidance on what to do."

Our experience as funeral directors has lead us to believe that prearranging your funeral is a gift to your family. For more information about how prepaid funerals or to discuss preplanning, please contact our office by calling 780-672-3131 to set an appointment. You are welcome to come to our office or we can schedule a time for us to come to your home. We also provide an online prearrangement form on our website or you can stop by our office for a free service guide.
