IMAGINE. EXPERIENCE. CELEBRATE.

The Magic of an East Coast Christmas Comes to Camrose

Celebrating their 35th anniversary this year, beloved multi award-winning Newfoundland & Labrador folk group, The Irish Descendants bring their annual holiday show, The Irish Descendants Christmas to venues throughout Atlantic Canada, Ontario and Alberta this November and December 2025.

Concert goers will be treated to a feast of Christmas songs and stories reminiscent of long-lived old-time holiday celebrations from the "Rock", all presented and told by seasoned storyteller and long-time front man Con O'Brien.

"For many of our faithful fans, The Irish Descendants Christmas has become an annual tradition, now crossing three generations of devoted admirers," says O'Brien. "Many families who gather annually claim it has become the official start to their holiday season. Join us for an 'Irish You A Merry Christmas', Descendants style.

We can't wait to see you at the shows!"

The show will present songs from The Irish Descendants two Christmas albums, The Gift (2001), and the 2025 East Coast Music nominated album, An Irish Descendants Christmas (2023) plus more festive favourites.

The Irish Descendants are Con O'Brien on lead vocals and guitar, Rowan Sherlock on mandolin, fiddle, piano and vocals, Jeff Kinsman on bass and vocals, and Madeline Carter on fiddle and vocals.

This year, to mark their 35th anniversary, the group released a limited edition 35th Anniversary Box Set and on September 4, they released a brand-new album, featuring eight songs, including title track "Those Were The Days", a poignant look back at better times and missed homelands. The new recording features an array of live show favourites, including the first time recording of Tara Browne's "Wild Fields of Home", a rousing set of tunes penned "Blowing Snow", and a powerful version of folk legend Ewan McColl's "First Time Ever I Saw Your Face". To round out the recording there are vocal and instrumental versions of one of their signature songs, "Let Me Fish Off Cape St. Mary's". This song, written by the late Otto Kelland, was inducted into the Canadian Songwriters Hall of Fame (CSHF) in May 2025.

About The Irish Descendants

From the rocky coastal outposts of the Island of Newfoundland & Labrador, The Irish Descendants formed in May 1990 and have carved a prestigious reputation over 35 years of performing. This iconic Canadian folk group guided by the leadership of Con O'Brien have toured throughout North America and beyond, sharing the music of their ancestral Irish home and that of their beloved Newfoundland and Labrador. With impeccable musicianship and vocal prowess, combined with amazing stories and wit, the group continually deliver vivid memories of who they are and where they come from to satisfied audiences wherever they hit a stage. The band's discography includes 15 studio recordings, with two certified Canadian Gold Albums, a JUNO Award along with three East Coast Music Awards.

THE MORNING BITE the kitchn

Turn leftover mashed potatoes into pan-fried potato pancakes

Sheela Prakash, TheKitchn.com

If you're swimming in leftover mashed potatoes after all your guests have come and gone, look no further than these potato pancakes.

While there are many leftovers that are arguably better the second day (looking at you, stuffing), mashed potatoes aren't one of them (unless you plan on drowning them in gravy). They are, however, one of the very best leftovers to reinvent into something new.

Forming leftover mashed potatoes into patties and pan-frying them is easily the most delicious thing you can do with leftovers. There's no need to even add salt and pepper to the mix if your original mashed potatoes were well-seasoned.

Serve them for lunch with a dollop of sour cream and a simple green salad on the side or make them a mid-day snack. You could even slide a fried egg on top and call it brunch. It's hard to go wrong here.

Leftover Mashed Potato Pancakes (Serves 4)

1 ounce Parmesan cheese, grated (about 1/2 cup)
2 tablespoons chopped fresh chives
1 large egg
2 cups cold mashed potatoes
1/2 cup all-purpose flour, divided
2 tablespoons olive oil, divided
Sour cream, for serving (optional)

1. Grate 1 ounce Parmesan cheese (about 1/2 cup) and place in a large bowl. Chop until you have 2 tablespoons fresh chives and add to the bowl. Add 1 large egg and lightly beat with a fork or wooden spoon to combine. Add 2 cups cold mashed potatoes and 1/4 cup of the all-purpose flour, and stir to combine. Refrigerate the mixture for 10 minutes.

2. Place the remaining 1/4 cup flour in a shallow dish. Divide the potato mixture into 8 (1/4-cup) portions. Working with one at a time, shape each portion into a patty about 3-inches in diameter, then dredge the patty in the flour on both sides, shaking off excess. Place on a baking sheet or large plate.

3. Heat 1 tablespoon of the olive oil in a 10- or 12-inch cast iron or nonstick skillet over medium-high heat until shimmering. Tilt the pan so that the oil coats the bottom. Using a wide, flat spatula, gently transfer four of the patties into the pan and cook, flipping once, until golden-brown and crisp, about 3 minutes per side. Repeat with the remaining 1 tablespoon oil and four patties.

4. Serve warm with sour cream, if desired.

Recipe note: Leftovers can be stored in an airtight container in the refrigerator for up to three days.
