Fountain Tire

We're on this road together.

Receive up to 25% discount per tire on select tires. Per tire discount applicable on our Every Day Price (EDP), between September 9 and October 19, 2024, at all Fountain Tire locations. This is a consumer offer only and does not apply to business customers, Goodyear National Accounts or Fountain Tire CFA Elite Accounts. Inventory may vary by location. Service rebate: $50 mail-in rebate offer valid with a minimum qualifying service addition. Minimum purchase of $150 required to receive a $50 rebate on qualifying service, including tire installation, tire storage, parts, and labor. Qualifying service purchase must be made with the purchase of a set of 4 qualifying Goodyear tires from September 9 to December 31, 2024, and only at participating Canadian Goodyear Tire & Service Network retailers. Offer is open to residents of Canada with mailing addresses in Canada. Tire purchase, shop supplies, disposal fees and taxes are excluded from this offer. To receive the service rebate, the consumer must provide a copy of the invoice and the rebate form to either the mailing address on the form or the manufacturer's rebate website by the date indicated on the rebate form. Cannot be combined with other Goodyear service offers. All applicable taxes (i.e. GST, PST, HST and tire taxes) are extra. See in-store or fountaintire.com for complete details of this promotion, including applicable taxes. Trademarks of AM Royalties Limited Partnership used under license by AIR MILES Loyalty Inc., and Goodyear Canada Inc. Morning Giggle

I have this friend who always seemed to lean slightly to the left all the time. It used to bother me, so I suggested he see a doctor, and have his legs checked out. For years, he refused. told me I was crazy, but last week, he finally went.

Sure enough, the doctor discovered his left leg was a quarter inch shorter than his right. A quick bit of orthopedic surgery later, he was cured, and both legs are exactly the same length now, and he no longer leans.

"So," I said, "You didn't believe me when I told you a doctor could fix your leg."

He just looked at me and said, "I stand corrected."

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)

Do something kind or thoughtful for others. Put a little love out into the world.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)

Spend time with folks you can learn from or those who can help you grow.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20)

You might receive well-deserved praise or attention for your efforts. Your track record speaks for itself.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22)

Everything that you need to succeed is contained within you. All you need to do now is put it to work.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22)

You don't always have to be in a state of constant movement and hurry. Slow down, breathe, and step away from the fray.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22)

The help you need is available. All you need is to be vulnerable or open enough to receive it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

Today should be a breeze. If you have work to do or a quota to hit, there will be very little stopping you. You'll also find people to be cooperative.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

Enjoy the feel-good vibes in the air. Make the most of the present moment. Your charm and positive attitude can help draw good things to you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

You could be feeling a bit wistful or melancholy today, making it even more important that you set aside some me-time and do something you enjoy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19)

Having the right partnerships will benefit you in reaching your goals. It's an excellent day for meetings, group projects, and relationship-building.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18)

When you remain aligned with your values, the money or opportunities you crave will be easier to find. Additionally, you can set a positive example for others.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20)

There's nothing wrong with putting yourself first from time to time.

FOR TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

You're sociable and charming. Making friends comes naturally to you. You're the person people always want to have around because you bring good vibes everywhere you go. You're clever, creative and adaptable. If there's a problem that comes up, you always have a solution at the ready. You may have faced a lot of ups and downs over the past year, but this year, the dust is beginning to settle, paving the way for new possibilities and a more enriching life.

WATER SHORTAGE

Help Preserve Water!

STAGE 1 Watch	STAGE 2 Warning	STAGE 3 Critical	STAGE 4 Emergency
-----------------------------------	-------------------------------------	--------------------------------------	---------------------------------------

We are currently in Stage 2 of our 4-stage water shortage response plan. The following MANDATORY water restrictions are in place:

- Lawns may only be watered between 6AM to 9AM and 7PM to 11PM.
 - Odd-numbered houses may water only on odd-numbered days.
 - Even-numbered houses may water only on even-numbered days.
- Flowerbeds, vegetable gardens and newly-laid sod may be watered at any time by hand, provided that the water used has been drawn from a rain barrel, from a watering can, or a hose with a nozzle fitted with a trigger shut-off to restrict water flow.
- Vehicles can only be washed with bucket and hand held hose or at a commercial car wash. Pressure washers are not allowed to wash vehicles.
- Additional water restrictions can be found under Stage 2 of the Water Shortage Response Plan or Stage 2 of the Water Conservation / Water Use Policy.

Any violation of these restrictions can result in fines.

For more information about water conservation or the water shortage response plan, please visit www.camrose.ca/WaterShortage

THE MORNING BITE the kitchn

Frankenstein fingers will be the hit of your Halloween party

Meghan Splawn, TheKitchn.com

If Halloween ghosts and witches feel a little too dark or spooky for your kids (or you!), consider the monster instead. As we were working on our list of the top 10 classic Halloween treats of all time, paging through 50 years of women's magazines, these monstrous pretzel fingers came up over and over again. Is this the year you finally make them? Yes!

Party pretzels have shown up across magazines for ages, but really burst onto the scene with Pinterest in the 2000s. But a monster is always a good entryway for Halloween; it's a little less spooky, and a little more colorful.

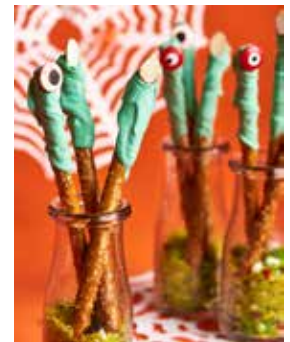

The trick for super-easy Frankenstein fingers

These are easy treats — just melt some white chocolate with food coloring, and dip away. The secret to getting a good coating on your chocolate is moving the melted white chocolate chips to a tall, narrow drinking glass; use the side of the glass to guide the chocolate up the pretzel rod and use the edge to wipe away excess coating.

Frankenstein fingers are also surprisingly delicious and grown-up-friendly. The pretzel rod with white chocolate crunch is a delightful monster mash-up of sweet and salty flavors. Plus you can carry a Frankenstein finger in one hand and a Halloween punch in the other.

Frankenstein Fingers Halloween Pretzels (Makes 24)

- 1 (11-ounce) bag white chocolate chips, about 2 1/4 cups
- 3 drops red food coloring (optional)
- 3 drops green food coloring (optional)
- 24 pretzel rods
- 1/4 cup toasted almond slivers or 1 (1-ounce) package candy eyes

1. Line a baking sheet with parchment paper. Place the white chocolate chips in a microwave-safe bowl and microwave on high, stirring in 30-second intervals, until melted, 2 to 2 1/2 minutes total. Stir in the red and green food coloring, if using, to dye the white chocolate dark green.

2. Pour the melted chocolate into a tall drinking glass. Dip each pretzel rod into the glass of melted white chocolate and twirl to coat, being sure to cover about 2/3 of the rod (but leaving some pretzel uncovered as a handle). Remove the pretzel, gently shaking to remove excess, and transfer to prepared sheet. Add an almond sliver or candy eye to each pretzel at its very tip to resemble a fingernail or monster.

Time's up. Defund the CBC.

The media landscape is changing, and it's time to respond to this shift by defunding the increasingly irrelevant CBC. Backed by over $1 billion in Federal tax dollars, this inefficient behemoth competes against small and independent media outlets for viewers and advertising space, shows a clear political bias, and has programming that is increasingly not relevant to Canadians. These failings and increased irrelevance are all at the expense of hardworking Canadian taxpayers.

Many Canadians are struggling to pay bills, put food on the table, find affordable housing, and walk safely in their communities. Canadians deserve a government focused on reducing taxes, cutting costs, building homes, and addressing the root causes of crime. And the creative sector is one that Canada excels at, yet under the Liberals they are trying to control what "Canadian Content" is and push a particular version of Canada that fits their bias. There was a case to be made for CBC in the past, at a time when our large and growing country needed to be connected, both rural and urban, but with the changing media landscape CBC finds itself without viewers and without content that people want to watch. Cultural content that focuses on Canada, our people, and our history is valuable and important, but outside of some nostalgia for public broadcasting, it far extends beyond what CBC offers. This coupled with other Liberal censorship laws is making Canada a less free place for freedom of speech and expression.

Prime Minister Trudeau and his allies, including CBC President and CEO Catherine Tait, showcase the irrelevance and entitlement of the organization daily. Tait's annual compensation ranges from $472,900 to $623,900. Yet, she claims the CBC is underfunded and must "stretch limited resources to meet our mandates." Ironically, her version of "stretching resources" includes cutting around 800 jobs while at the same time distributing over $18 million in bonuses (labeled performance pay), while not meeting many of their performance mandates!

When questioned about these bonuses, Tait refused to disclose the recipients and refused to answer basic questions about her own compensation. The real question is not whether she received a bonus but how much she got even when the organization failed to meet basic objectives! Common sense would suggest that bonuses get paid when things are going well; not at CBC, where it seems they have a backwards approach to this. In fact, we recently saw that CBC-TV advertising revenue further plummeted by another 10% last year, with the latest Annual Report indicating a continued decline as TV audiences dwindle.

Just a year ago, it was reported that the CBC's English-language television audience accounted for only 4.4% of the prime-time viewing market, down from 7.6% five years earlier. The CBC's inability to deliver programs that resonate with viewers, coupled with the trend of Canadians migrating to digital and streaming platforms, illustrates that the CBC is irrelevant to Canadians. In fact, when debating this very issue with former Heritage Minister, now Minister of the Environment, Steven Guilbeault, a number of years ago, he bragged about some primetime shows that had recently won awards... to which I pointed out that they were produced by private studios and were most watched on other streaming platforms online. Effectively meaning that they would have been successful without the CBC and the massive taxpayer subsidies!

Conservative Party of Canada leader, Pierre Poilievre and our common-sense team of MPs is calling for the defunding of the CBC to save taxpayer dollars and promote a free and competitive broadcasting space in Canada. This change would allow Canadians to choose what they watch, allow creators to create content people want, enable media entities to thrive based on merit, and ensure that employees receive fair compensation for their performance. It's time to reconsider the CBC's outdated role in our media landscape and prioritize the needs of Canadians over big, bloated bureaucracy.

Why a Funeral?

Funeral ceremonies can make a significant difference in how families channel their grief towards health and healing. During the funeral, the community comes together and responds to the reality that someone has died, and also to the reality that those remaining will need support, compassion, love, hope and understanding.

Our dedicated and experienced staff are here to help you in planning and carrying out a meaningful funeral that is unique to your families needs and values. Our funeral directors are intimately familiar with the funeral planning process, and key decisions a grieving family must make during this difficult time.

May the peace that comes from the memories of love shared, comfort you now and in the days ahead.
