Lobster Bisque

Creamy french lobster soup perfect for the holidays, you can optionally replace the lobster with any other shellfish.

Prep time: 20 min

Cook time: 30 min

Servings: 2 litres

Ingredients

- 1 live lobster that weighs ~750 grams
- 2 onions
- 2 carrots
- 1 shallot
- 2 garlic cloves
- cognac
- 3 tbsp concentrated tomato puree
- 4 tomatoes
- 3 tbsp flour
- 1 glass dry white wine
- 2 litres fish stock
- 1 bayleaf
- 2 twigs of thyme
- fresh parsley
- heavy cream
- olive oil
- 2 tbsp butter

Directions

Finely dice the onions, carrots, shallots and garlic and set aside for later.

Blanche the lobster in boiling water for 2 minutes, remove from the water and let it leak.

Cut it down the middle and remove the meat from the shell, set the meat aside for later.

Place a stockpot on medium high heat and heat up enough oil to cover the bottom of the pan, add the lobster shells and cook them until they are bright red.

Remove the oil from the pan and discard it, add your butter to the shells.

Add all diced vegetables and let it sauté for 2 minutes, add a dash of cognac and flambé, lower the heat to medium low.

Roughly dice the tomatoes and add them together with the tomato puree, once again let it sauté for 2 minutes.

Add the flour and give it all a stir, let it dry up in the pan.

Deglaze the pan with the white wine and once the wine has dried up a bit add the fish stock.

Tie up your herbs using kitchen twine and add them to your pot.

Let it simmer on low heat for 30 minutes, while the soup is boiling take the lobster meat and dice it into bite-sized pieces.

After the soup is done boiling run it through a fine sieve.

Bring the strained soup back to a light boil and add the diced lobster pieces.

Let the soup boil for 4 more minutes to heat up the lobster and serve, add pepper and salt to taste.

Finish off in the plate with a bit of heavy cream.

MEET A CHEF: ERRIN MASSOLIN

Executive Chef @ The Nash Restaurant & Off Cut Bar in Calgary, AB

Errin Massolin, an Italian and Métis Cree chef, cooks from a place shaped by heritage and a lifelong devotion to food. She grew up immersed in the culinary world under the guidance of her Italian grandfather, a chef whose influence instilled in her a deep respect for craftsmanship, hospitality, and the traditions that gather people around a table.

Her style today blends those foundations with a reverence for fire, seasonality, and local ingredients. She is known for large-format, whole-animal, open-flame cooking — creating dining experiences that celebrate the connection between people, place, and food. Whether working over hardwood coals or highlighting Alberta's exceptional producers, her approach is guided by simplicity, technique, and the belief that the best meals are shared.

Through her work, she honours both her Italian and Métis Cree heritage while telling the story of Alberta's landscape, agriculture, and culinary community — one fire, one feast, and one gathering at a time.

What made you want to become a chef?

"I never questioned whether I would become a chef—it was never a choice. I just always knew. Growing up with my Italian grandfather, a chef, I was immersed in the kitchen from a very young age. Cooking was simply a part of life. Watching food bring people together and learning the value of craftsmanship, hospitality, and tradition made the path feel natural. Today, my Italian and Métis Cree heritage continue to shape the way I cook, with a focus on open-fire cooking, whole-animal feasts, and celebrating the connection between food, people, and place."

Why do you use Alberta ingredients in your kitchen?

"We use Alberta ingredients because they reflect the land we cook on and the seasons that shape our menu. As a seasonal, run-focused restaurant, our approach is rooted in working closely with local growers, ranchers, and producers who share our commitment to sustainability and quality.

Cooking with Alberta ingredients allows us to stay connected to what is available at its peak—ingredients that are fresh, intentional, and full of character. It also supports the local agricultural community and reduces the distance between field and plate.

Our menu evolves with the seasons, guided by respect for the land and a responsibility to use ingredients thoughtfully. This approach ensures that every dish tells a story of place, time, and the people who make it possible."

What dish should guests be sure to try on your menu?

"The dish I recommend guests experience is our Alberta lamb saddle, prepared over open flame to highlight its natural richness and depth. It is served with house-made goat yogurt labneh and pillowy gnocchi made from Alberta potatoes, finished with summer herbs.

The dish is complemented by a rhubarb and mint chutney for brightness, a slow-reduced lamb jus, and a selection of seasonal Alberta vegetables that change with the harvest."

Alberta on the Plate showcases the incredible bounty that is grown and produced across our beautiful province. Throughout the year, we celebrate and share the Alberta food story by introducing you to the people and businesses that grow, raise, create, and support the agri-food industry in Alberta. Every August during Alberta Local Food Week, Alberta on the Plate hosts a ten-day, province-wide dine around festival. Get more info at:

Why a Funeral?

Funeral ceremonies can make a significant difference in how families channel their grief towards health and healing. During the funeral, the community comes together and responds to the reality that someone has died, and also to the reality that those remaining will need support, compassion, love, hope and understanding.

Our dedicated and experienced staff are here to help you in planning and carrying out a meaningful funeral that is unique to your families needs and values. Our funeral directors are intimately familiar with the funeral planning process, and key decisions a grieving family must make during this difficult time.
